

ALDWYNEDITEDJUNE

Travel Radio Australia, and this month we're catching up again with the fabulous media queen Aldwyn Altuney on the Gold Coast in Queensland. Aldwyn, welcome back to the program. Thank you, Geoff.

Great to be back. Now, Aldwyn, since we spoke last year, there's been some tremendous things that you've been up to. Tell us about all the updates.

Thank you, Geoff. Well, actually, I just got back to the Gold Coast from some time in Fiji and also in Sydney. There's a lot of trips interstate this year and some exciting things on the horizon.

So since we last chatted, I had a bit of a brainstorm in January. I was at a retreat, an intimate retreat that I was doing, and I thought, I really want to help people impact change more this year. I really want to help people, you know, nurture themselves and get out there more.

And I realized it doesn't matter how many marketing tips I give people, if they don't have the self-love and the self-confidence, they're just not going to do anything with it. So this idea came to me of doing this retreat, and I called it Impact Change Retreat for Entrepreneurs. And we just ran that.

We had about 25 facilitators and speakers at the event, including yourself, Geoff, you came and spoke about your media career. In fact, we called that media magic. And you also did a little bit of people.

You talked about your amazing media career and DJ Classic was there as well. You did a fantastic job with your disco and retro music. So people absolutely love that.

In fact, the Impact Change Retreat went so well that people are now saying, when is the next one? So that was a fantastic initiative that almost didn't go ahead because two and a half weeks before it happened, the venue had a whole lot of structural issues that we had organized, which was Hippocrates Wellness Center in Madhubara. And last minute, we managed to get Flourish Wellness Center in Narang to come on board. And people absolutely love the retreat.

We had yoga. We did some morning mindful walks. We had all sorts of presentations around style, around storytelling.

We had Lynn Sutherland there sharing about media for good. And she does amazing work for animals and the environment across the world. So Lynn was there.

We had Elizabeth Ray, Kerwin Ray's mother was there. We had people that came in from interstate for the event. It was a phenomenal event.

So Impact Change Retreats is now a thing. I've now got an Impact Change Facebook group.

We've now got already over 150 members of that Facebook group, and it only just started a few days ago.

So now we've got this whole impact change movement happening where we want people to know that they are loved, they do belong, and they are good enough. And you have to really have these elements of self-love and self-confidence if you want to impact change in a bigger way in the world. So Impact Change Retreats has happened, our first one off the ground, and so many people want to be involved in the next one.

So stay tuned for that. The other thing we've got going on is we've got the Fear to Freedom Series 2 book. So last year, we launched Fear to Freedom.

It's a 30th book that I've been involved with, and this one I co-created with Leanne Clune for Series 1. Series 2, I'm teaming up with Dame Rita Rose from Sydney, and we're looking for 11 co-authors plus Rita and I. So it'll be 13 co-authors in this next book, which will be amazing as well. And that's all about conscious creators manifesting magic. So it's about people sharing their fear to freedom story and how they've overcome that, what's the wisdom they've learned on their journey in life.

So Fear to Freedom book 2, we're looking to launch that hopefully at the end of July in Sydney, and also after that on the Gold Coast. Now, last year's book was an Amazon bestseller. We had authors from New South Wales and from Queensland in that book, entrepreneurs that shared their journey of fear to freedom in an area of their life or in several areas of their life.

And many of these authors had never shared their story before. So it was a really inspiring thing that we did there with the Fear to Freedom book. And I'm so excited about the next book coming out this year.

So that's two things. We've got Impact, Change, Retreat, the Fear to Freedom book. Now, also very exciting this year, this is our 20th year of the Animal Action Events.

And this is something I started to raise awareness, appreciation and respect for all animals. We've got 19 events now on the Gold Coast and a few online during the COVID period when we weren't able to do in-person events. And the 20th year, this year, we're looking at a animal and wildlife retreat to Sri Lanka, which we're looking at October.

I'm teaming up with Lynn Sutherland for that one. And we will be launching details about the 20th annual Animal Action Celebration and taking it overseas with a retreat this year. Well, that lady you just mentioned, she's a fantastic author.

She's a documentary filmmaker. And I found her story absolutely fascinating during her speech. Tell us a bit about more what she's doing, because people can find her online and she's a huge presence.

She is. She runs Travel Wild TV and she's been on Channel 9. She's been on TV series all around the world. And she's constantly off on another adventure.

In fact, she's going off to Fiji tomorrow night and then off on a cruise. And I'd say most of the year she is traveling around the world, doing amazing documentaries, capturing the wildlife, capturing the environment. She is a crusader for Mother Earth and for Gaia, as she says.

She is guided by Gaia or by Mother Earth to basically help to protect our environment and protect our animals. And this is where we actually collaborated many years ago. She came to several of the animal action events, probably 15 years ago or so.

And then we reconnected again a few years ago and we did some events to raise awareness for what's going on with, well, there's this big fire ant eradication program that's going on, which the government's paying for, that's actually killing a lot of our wildlife and it's polluting our river systems and our waterways and is killing off the bees. So we've done several fundraisers to help save the bees and to help stop the toxic fire ant program that has been happening across Australia, where the government's wasting over a billion dollars to apparently kill fire ants, which you can actually kill fire ants with hot water, but of course there's no money in that. So Lynn and I have teamed up the last two years doing fundraisers and film nights to raise awareness for that.

And now we're teaming up with this Sri Lankan wildlife retreat that you'll be seeing advertised very soon online. So she's extraordinary. You can see a lot of her previous documentaries, including one she did in Sri Lanka, actually on Travel Wild TV on YouTube.

Yeah, that's great. And there was a great mix of people there. As you say, there were 25 fantastic influencers and a lot more people who just dropped into the thing.

And your first one was so successful. Are you thinking of doing one in 2027 or looking forward to that? This should be huge actually. And I really recommend anyone to go online and find out all about it.

Yeah. We may even do one later this year in 2026. I've had a lot of requests for it.

It's a lot of work that goes into it. So we'll see how we go for doing one later in the year. Because we have the animal retreat coming up, we might not do as big an event, might do something a bit more intimate, but I'm feeling into that at the moment.

However, I would say we will be doing one for 2027, if not later this year. And details will definitely be on all my links on socials. You'll be hearing all about it when we do do another one.

And yeah, I think people really loved the amount of love in the room. There were some extraordinary entrepreneurs who were absolutely brilliant at their stuff. And a lot of people didn't know them, like Licia Malveen.

I think she's one of the best singers on the Gold Coast. She's extraordinary. And like yourself, Jeff, I interviewed Licia back in the early 2000s when I was a journalist at the Sun Newspapers.

And I interviewed you for your magic way back then when I was at the Sun Newspapers. And people were blown away at the connections that I have, such as yourself and Licia and Lyn Sutherland. Some of these extraordinary people that really are very unknown in many circles, yet absolutely brilliant at what they do.

Tracy Corman from Two's Company was there. Karen Clark, Moana Robinson, the Sassy Stylist. You know, we had some amazing speakers and presenters and phenomenal people who are all there supporting each other.

You know, they're the kind of people that do lead from the heart and beautiful connections. Janet Carson came and did yoga. Ange Keats.

We had Grant Wood was doing massage. Sally and Andrew Kavanagh from Flourish Wellness Centre as well. They had the whole wellness centre open there.

We had frequency devices. It was just, it was amazing. I think a very beautiful nurturing experience for the people that came to, for the people that often give so much to others.

It was a wonderful nurturing experience for them as well. Yes, that's Impact Change and it's a fantastic event. You can look that up on Facebook Impact Change.

And how can people get in contact with you, Alwyn, for more information? Thank you, Jeff. Well, all my links are at linktree.com forward slash Aldwyn, which you will find if you just Google Aldwyn Media Queen, you will find me all over the internet. But that direct link is linktree.com forward slash Aldwyn has all my links.

What I highly recommend you do is hop onto my link there for Eventbrite and for Humanitix and make sure you follow me on those platforms so that when we do launch new events, you get all the updates on that. Of course, we also have every month the Global Good News Challenge, which is absolutely free. You check that link out in my links as well.

It's free gratitude and good news, live video, social media challenge we have every month and free marketing for you. And people feel amazing when they do these Global Good News Challenges. So we're now into year six of the Global Good News Challenge.

It's been going every single month since June 2020. Aldwyn Altuney, the Media Queen from Queensland and Australia. Thanks so much for being part of the program again.

Thank you, Jeff. Love your work.
