

SKI TV - NATIONAL SHOW SHOW - GRACE HARRISON INTERVIEW

Ski TV here at the National Snow Show in Birmingham at the NEC in the UK, and I have a very special guest with me today. It's Grace Harrison, and Grace is one of the big up-and-coming junior skiers in the UK. And Grace, welcome to ski TV.

Hi. Nice to see you, Grace. Now, Grace, tell us about what it's like to train as a junior, because you're training to, your ultimate aim is to join the GB team, right? Tell us about that.

I have many goals, and one of them is to join the GB team, and it's just amazing to train with them. Currently, I have some sponsors that are really good and helpful. One of them is Anything Technical and the Chill Factory in Manchester.

To train as a youngster, I always push myself, and training with the GB team is amazing, honestly. And it's just a huge opportunity. Yeah, it's a fantastic thing to do as a junior, and how did you start? What age were you when you started to ski? I was eight when I started to ski, and the reason I got into it was because my elder sister she went on a school ski trip abroad with her school, and I actually started skiing at the Chill Factory in Manchester, and ever since I've just enjoyed it.

Yeah, it's easy to get hooked on the whole thing, isn't it? It's so easy. And how have you been finding your skier, and how have you been finding the training programs? Can you mention some of your coaches and those kind of people? Yeah, so for Alpine, I'm mainly training with Kandahar, and one of the coaches is James Bennett. He's an amazing coach, always motivational, pushing you to your limits, and is always there for questions and things like that.

Also for training with the GB team, the people that you train with, the athletes who are on Europa Cup, World Cup, they boost your confidence. And also I find if you look at the way they ski, it also pushes you harder as a youngster. Yeah, it's brilliant, and we just had Chemi Olcott here drop into our studio recently.

I suppose people like Chemi must be one of your idols, yes? Yes, definitely, and she's a huge motivation to many youngsters as myself, as she's overcome so many obstacles, as I know that I'll face at some point. But it's how she came over those obstacles is what's motivational. Yeah, it's amazing, and you're such a great young woman, and you're so easy to talk to and very good.

And I suppose it's easy when you do interviews like this, because if you are going on to the GB team eventually, you'll have to do all these interviews. And I suppose this is great practice for you. Yeah, definitely.

And I just feel comfortable talking about what I am passionate about, because to spread the word around you is just amazing, because if you tell people about it, then maybe they can get involved in it and find a passion for it as well. And tell me some of your favourite places to ski in Europe, or where have you been? Well, currently, for indoor slopes, it's definitely Manchester, in Manchester. But if we're talking about abroad, it's definitely Sasse Bay in Switzerland, which I'm going away on Thursday, actually, in October.

And also, I do like to go to Kranz, Montana, Lax, where most of the competitions are for younger ones, such as the Audi ski cross tour, which I went on last time. It's really amazing. You're very high up, Grace.

This is Grace Harrison. She's one of the... And I'm related, because I'm Harrison as well. But definitely can't ski as well as you, especially at your age.

How old are you? 15. And she's a fantastic young competitor to look out for in the future. And if you do see Grace Harrison on the GB team, which I'm sure you will be, please remember her on ski TV.

And do you have... You know, people can follow you, I suppose, and all that kind of stuff. Can you give us those social details? Yeah. So my Instagram is Harrison241105.

And it's the same for Twitter, Facebook and everything like that. And listen, ladies and gentlemen, support these young athletes, you know, because they really need all of our help to get their training. It all costs a lot of money, doesn't it? And it costs a lot of... And people like Grace are going to be representing the United Kingdom in the future.

But, Grace, thank you very, very much for coming to ski TV and being part of it. And would you like to mention your sponsors once again? That's very important. So my sponsors are the Chill Factory in Manchester, anything technical and yeah.

Thank you, Grace. See you later. Great.

Good luck with the with the career. I'm sure you'll be fantastic. And thanks for being on ski TV.

Let's wave goodbye to all our ski TV audience.
