LIEIZELDEVETADOREAFRICAEDIT

Travel Radio Australia and this time we are visiting Africa. Now I have Liesl de Vett and Liesl is the Chief Executive Officer of a fabulous company called Adore Africa and if you are thinking of going to Africa Liesl is the girl that you want to get in contact with because Adore Africa can do a lot for you. Liesl welcome to the program.

Thank you so much Jeff it's a privilege to be here and thank you for the invitation to share a little bit about Adore Africa. First of all where are you based? What can you offer people who want to go to Africa? So we are based in beautiful Cape Town, South Africa and Adore Africa is a luxury travel company, full service destination management company so we take care of people's dream holidays. It sounds like a cliche but it is really something that people do dream about is coming to South Africa, wider reach of Africa, southern Africa, east Africa and the Indian Ocean Islands to enjoy everything our beautiful continent has to offer.

Basically a client would book their flights in and out of Africa or South Africa and we take care of all the other arrangements on the ground. Tell us about some of these magnificent tours that people can go on you've got a whole bunch of them but I'm looking at your video here and it's so beautiful. The Yerat Drakensberg for instance just absolutely gorgeous.

So I mean for us you know every holiday is tailor-made we don't do as they say cookie-cutter holidays so it's very much for us about understanding the the traveler coming to South Africa and understanding what have they heard about the the destination is it a celebration is it a family holiday is it a honeymoon is it a golf holiday is it a luxury rail holiday and we will then tailor it around that but South Africa is a very diverse destination you know you've got the safari element that's obviously always on a bucket list to come and see the big five wildly not in a zoo, elephant you know lion, leopards, buffalo, rhinos in the most exquisite accommodations you know in the middle of the wilderness it's definitely one of the things that people love to do and then just combine it with the fantastic food the wine the scenery and the wonderful people of South Africa makes it a really immersive holistic holiday destination. I was listening to a presentation here at the International Golf Travel Market and there was a golf course and the guy was saying you could actually look at elephants as you're teeing off that's really crazy. Yes I mean if you think in terms of the Kruger National Park you've got Leopard Creek which is a championship golf course it's hosted very a lot of international tournaments and if you stand on the 13th hole you look over the crocodile river and you could see elephants and lions and wild animals drinking water at the river so yeah they're definitely golf courses in beautiful locations.

Cape Town itself where you're based is such a gorgeous jumping off point to the whole of South Africa. Tell us a bit about some of your favorite places in Cape Town if people are heading off there. Yeah so Cape Town everything happens around our beautiful mountain so Table Mountain if you look at the mountain you would not realize or know that there are absolutely different scenery and experiences around that mountain.

So beautiful places in Cape Town would be the Constantia Valley it's a very old wine valley with five-star hotels really fantastic restaurants you've got Baldur's Beach for the critically endangered penguins you've got Cape Point where you can take a funicular and view the most southern tip of Africa they say it is the most southern tip it's actually a galas but for tourists that is special. The V&A Waterfront it's an iconic working harbor with lots of beautiful restaurants shopping theater and lots of things to do. And tell us a couple of your favorite tours that you really love to take people on.

So we are a golf specialist tour operator so in our business we design incredible golf holidays to to Southern Africa or South Africa. South Africa for us is nothing like any other golf destination it is not a place where you will just flop and drop into a golf resort play golf and go home. So a wonderful golf holiday would be to fly into Cape Town to book into one of the beautiful boutique hotels or spectacular resort hotels.

Play at Stienburg, play at Clovelly, Westlake Royal Cape Golf Club, do a Cape Peninsula tour and then move on to the Winelands area where you can stay in the picture-perfect Franshook area or Stellenbosch, play Dzalza or Paul Valley and again do a full-day Winelands tour and drink some of the world's best wines eat in beautiful places. Go and just enjoy the culture of the destination from there you could move on to Armanis with a breeding ground for southern right whales, play golf and again South Africa loves wine we have a lot of wine producing areas so you have the Yemeland are the valley there. From there you move on to the garden route so you could stay at Gondwana for a big five safari not necessarily in the Kruger but it's malaria free which makes it interesting for clients and then Fancourt where you can play the number one golf course the Lynx and Montague Otoniqua and that would be a golf tour obviously we don't just do golf tours honeymoon couples would come and stay in campus bay in Cape Town at the Marley Hotel on the beach enjoying absolutely the spectacular weather white sandy beaches move on to Franschuch to stay in a little boutique hotel again for food wine and just a romantic atmosphere of that little of Franschuch and then transfer into the bush and go and stay at a place like Sabi Sabi Earth Lodge for an incredible safari and also the home of leopards that's just a taste of some of the itineraries.
