

ONEWORLDLOUNGEAMSTERDAMEDIT

Travel Radio Australia and we're here at Schiphol Airport in Amsterdam and we're sitting in the gorgeous One World Lounge and we're here with Miriam Pullman. Miriam, welcome to the programme. Thank you very much, Joff.

Nice meeting you and happy to have you here in this lounge. And tell us about this lounge. It's gorgeous.

You look right out on the planes and tell us a bit about your role here at the One World Lounge. My role is here in the One World Lounge, service delivery manager lounges. I'm working for Swissboard, a very known company in ground handling globally.

And here in Amsterdam we operate several lounges and one of our newest lounges is the One World Lounge. We are the first One World Lounge in Europe and the second in the world, which we're really proud of. And I am actually involved in this One World Lounge.

I think the project, I would say, since three years from the first moment, it was clear that we were about to build this lounge in Amsterdam until the opening last February. So we just had our first anniversary last month and we're really happy with the result and especially the reactions of the passengers and all the airlines who visit this lounge on a daily basis. And to describe it, you've got these incredible full-length picture windows.

They're floor to ceiling. You're right up against the planes. So when people are relaxing here, they get a really beautiful sense of view.

Yes, we have to admit we're very lucky when it comes to the views and the windows and the light that brings in the lounges. Also, from most places at the airport, if you do not know we exist, then you don't see it or you don't know it. It's kind of a hidden gem and always of peace and quiet and relaxation before you take off.

So yeah, we're very happy and grateful that we have this spot at Schiphol Airport with the views and the spaces. And it must be very satisfying for you to see this from a virtual shell come together. Tell us about that process.

What I can tell is that One World was the last alliance. We have three in the world who did not have their own lounges. And we, as I dare to say it, like out of Swiss put perspective, we're very happy that we started this adventure with One World to create the first One World lounges.

Our other One World lounges in Incheon in Korea and then the other ones here in Amsterdam. And together we started this journey with a local designer here based in Amsterdam who designed these lounges, local companies who'd build in it and seeing the result together. It's a great partnership with One World, with the alliance and with the partners who are using this lounge on Daily Base.

The design of it is very artistic, isn't it? It really fits in with the Amsterdam feel and theme of art. It has these beautiful art pieces in the lounge. Yes, it is.

Mainly it's a special One World design, but every lounge has some local aspects integrated in the designs, which in this lounge here in Amsterdam Schiphol you could recognize the little arch under the little bridges in the Amsterdam canals that you will walk through if you enter this lounge. On top of the bar we have a circle with light bulbs. On top of that are the typical Dutch birds.

You might notice if you pay some attention. So they're all little tweaks towards the Dutch things you can recognize here. And besides that, of course, we have some iconic seats who've been created by a designer, especially for One World.

We will also see coming back in maybe future lounges. Besides that, if you look at the white walls, you see the silhouettes of aircraft windows. So the designers took many topics in this design to reflect back to local aspects and to the experts of aviation.

This is the second dedicated alliance lounge, which is a real dedicated One World lounge. Of course, all over the world passengers who are travelling on behalf of a One World carrier can visit a dedicated airport lounge who is a member of this alliance. Now, if someone's coming to Schiphol and they don't have a membership, can they pay to come in or whatever? Is that possible? In this specific lounge, not at the moment, we really remain exclusivity for only passengers who travel on behalf of a One World alliance in the first class, business class or with a gold or silver status.

Your plans in the future? Are you sticking with the program here or do you do other things? You're based here in Amsterdam as well? Yeah, I'm based here in Amsterdam. We represent for Swissboard four lounges. One for One World, one of another alliance and two of our own brand, our Aspire Lounges, also very known globally.

For this moment, I'm not planning to go anywhere else. I'm very happy in the role and being responsible as a service delivery manager for these four outlets, all the partners we work with here in Amsterdam. But who knows what the future will bring? Well, thanks so much for being with us on the program.

And it's a beautiful lounge here, the One World lounge here at Schiphol. And congratulations on making such a great product for travelers all across the world. Thank you very much and happy to have you here.
