TURBOZIPLINESEDIT

Travel Radio Australia and we're here in Khan at the fabulous MAPI event and it's where all the people who build the attractions that you go on there's it as a visitor or a tourist. Ivar's company which is Ivar's Betsan's from Erodium Technologies from Latvia and they build these fabulous things like zip lines and all these magnificent adrenaline experiences. Ivar's welcome to the program.

Thank you for asking me. Okay Ivar's tell us a bit about your company and how it all started. So basically we are a Latvian based company right now but originally our origins of this company is from Canada from 1979 that's that's all this company in this industry and basically what we do we are designing and building technologies for people to fly in different ways like you said it might be the wind tunnels it might be the zip lines and here we are launching the world's first zipline which is running on horizontal cable yeah so we have a zipline which don't require the mountains.

It's incredible the visuals you have here on your stand are just absolutely incredible and as you say they can fly and there seems to be like a jet engine or something on the top tell us a bit about that. Yeah that's exactly jet engines and our concept is that we stretch cable over the valley jet engines are the force letting people accelerate and these ziplines are super fast they go up to 100 more than 100 kilometers per hour we can go it even more but then it becomes painful so we just limit it to 100. The opportunity in this in this ride is that we can stretch it pretty much every anywhere yeah so it's built anywhere zipline.

Now you're all over Europe tell us about some of the places that you were already into. We are in the 48 countries already so it's it will take all of your air to mention all of this yeah but maybe the latest ones we're last week we opened a new facility in Romania we're building one in Serbia we're building many in the Middle East yeah right now what else in USA next spring we will pop up to new locations maybe three yeah wherever. The experience of the adrenaline rush people get from these is just out of this world tell us about your background how did you get involved in all of this? I was originally in show business so my education is actually nothing related to technologies I am philosopher by education but when I was a youngster I was involved in stunt group as a stuntman and then I become a stunt coordinator and then I was doing the stunt shows and I was running around country organizing these things and this is the base how I get involved in film industry and you know when you're in stunt business you're always creating some new stuff yeah to be different from other stunt people all of this experience led me to work with the world's most famous stunt people like Jackie Chan was my customer, Tom Cruise was my customer, Mark Wahlberg, Scarlett Johansson just to name some yeah and this is pretty much my background yeah philosopher doing stunts and then the creating technologies and to build these rides and these experiences it's a pretty heavy thing to do isn't it I was looking at the way you go about it you you make a contract and then there's a whole bunch of steps in between to final handover and training yeah usually these projects takes around one year to develop it's also heavy investment like the minimum 1 million euros but most of the projects are multi-million projects like 5-10 million so it's heavy investment but surprisingly it's also pays pays back quite reasonably let's say in four or five years your money is back so it's also kind of profitable business and because we are creating unique experiences really unique if you talk about turbo zipline that's that's that's the only one in the world right now in Latvia yeah so we're we're about to build the next one in USA next year and a couple more this unique experiences attract unique people who are looking for unique experiences yeah so it's it becomes a destination you were telling me before that Australia is one of your favorite destinations tell us a bit about a bit about your experiences in Australia I still remember feelings of being in Sydney it's it's it's not about seeing something specific it's about why about this Australian why which I like very much yeah about people who are very relaxed and and decent people I really like Australians yeah so I would love to work with somebody from Australia in future to find my company you go for turbo zipline.com that's one of the options or you go for irodium technology or it's it's even easier you just Google vertical wind tunnels that's what we do great well I've I've I thank you very much for being on the program I've I spare towns from irodium technologies based in Latvia and watch out for their rides come into a theme park or an attraction near you it's a fantastic thing and these rides are really awesome check them out online thank you so much and I'm hoping to visit Australia anytime soon thanks mate
